Investment Manager's Commentary

The FTSE All-Share index rose by 0.3% in the quarter. The FTSE 250 index outperformed this, with an increase of 1.9%, while the FTSE Higher Yield index underperformed with a fall of 0.9%. In general, share prices gained ground in the first two months of the quarter before falling in June. In the UK, the General Election outcome, the loss of an absolute Conservative majority in the House of Commons, came as a shock to investors who had relied on erroneous polling data. However the main reason for the setback in equity markets was a heightened expectation for a global rise in interest rates. This was triggered by comments from several central banks concerning the need to combat inflationary pressures. As a result the yield on the 10-year gilt, which had fallen from 1.1% to 0.9%, spiked upwards to end the quarter at 1.3%.

The fund's total return of 3.4% was ahead of the FTSE All Share index which saw a total return of 1.4%. A positive contribution to performance came from the underweight position in Mining as well as the overweight position in Electronics. In addition stock selection was strong in General Retail (N Brown +48%) and Food Retail (Conviviality +13%). These positives offset negative factors for performance which included the overweight position in Utilities as well as stock selection in Household Goods (Crest Nicholson -4%), Travel & Leisure (Marston's -9%) and Support Services (Carillion -16%). The fund's quarterly distribution was maintained at 1.1p (the same as in Q1) which compares to 1.0p in the same quarter last year.
